

Frank Mann

Supplier of High-Quality Fresh Produce

Established in Torquay & supporting local growers since 1948

Bringing you the best of Devon for over 75 years

From our early roots in 1948, Frank H Mann has grown from a local wholesaler in Torquay into one of the South West's most respected fruit and vegetable suppliers.

Officially incorporated in August 1961, the company set up at its current site in Torquay, firmly anchoring itself in the region. Over the decades we've maintained our commitment to delivering first-class quality, sourcing from local growers and exotic suppliers alike and adapting to the changing needs of retailers, caterers and consumers.

Today, our deep local heritage blends seamlessly with forward-thinking sustainability, ensuring that the fresh produce we supply remains as vibrant and dependable as ever.

SUPPLIER OF HIGH-QUALITY FRESH PRODUCE

Local fruit and veg for local plates

At Frank H Mann, we are proud supporters of local fruit and vegetable growers because we believe in fresh, seasonal produce and the hardworking communities behind it.

Buying locally ensures better quality and taste and strengthens our local economy. Supporting local growers means investing in a more sustainable and resilient food system for everyone, that reduces environmental impact and helps preserve traditional farming practices.

A. Thorne ►

The Thorne family can trace its Devon farming ancestry back for hundreds of years and Anthony Thorne was definitely born with the 'farming genes'.

He has a great love of the red soil of mid-Devon and the fabulous scenery that he lives and works in. He started growing just strawberries on this site in 1986.

The business has evolved to provide a wide range of soft fruit and vegetables over an area of 125 acres in the local parishes around Stockleigh Pomeroy.

'We keep our carbon miles to a minimum whilst helping to support a long-established farming family and their legacy'

◀ M. Luscombe

Overlooking both the River Teign estuary and the rolling Tors of Dartmoor, this incredibly fertile land produces some of Devon's finest crops of vegetables. Expertly grown by Malcolm Luscombe and his son Jason, they find this hilly terrain ideal for some of the best vegetables all year round.

We can't get enough of their produce, so their close proximity means we keep our carbon miles to a minimum whilst helping to support a long-established farming family and their legacy.

From fruit...

At Frank H Mann, we are committed to delivering high-quality fresh fruit sourced from trusted growers.

From local growers here in Devon to established farms in New Zealand, we carefully select our fruit for its freshness, flavour and consistency.

Our focus on quality means you receive produce that meets high standards every time, whether it's locally grown or internationally sourced. At every stage, we work to ensure that our fruit arrives as fresh as possible.

'Carefully chosen for its quality, ripeness and unbeatable taste'

▲ Grown with care

Our apples are proudly sourced from Four Elms Farm, a family-run orchard known for its commitment to quality, sustainability and biodiversity.

Spread across the farm are over 40 thriving beehives, each playing a vital role in pollinating the orchards and surrounding countryside. Four Elms is also home to a variety of owl and bat species. These efforts to support local wildlife reflect the same care and respect for nature that go into growing every apple we sell.

◀ A range of tasty produce

From vibrant dragon fruit to juicy mangoes and sweet papayas, our selection of exotic fruits brings bold flavours and tropical flair to your table.

Sourced from trusted growers around the world, each fruit is carefully chosen for its quality, ripeness and unbeatable taste.
